Company Profile

XL Plastics manufactures a range of plastic film converting machines and printing machinery. It is a leader in the Asian subcontinent with over 5000 installations in more than 35+ countries.

Situated in Vadodara, on the western part of India, the company has their manufacturing unit over a total area of 20,000 Sq.mt. A team of 150+ dedicated workers includes engineers, specialists and technicians in converting equipment's. The facilities are equipped with CNC machines, VMC machines and special tools where all aspects of manufacturing, assembly and testing are carried out by the respective departments. All critical machined components are manufactured and assembled in-house using the latest technology thereby ensuring quality.

Since the inception of the company in 1980, it has slowly and steadily built a strong position for itself by continuously upgrading quality and understanding market dynamics.

A family owned company of technocrats possessing a wide range of experience acquired in the areas of flexible packaging and converting equipments. XL Plastics combines the best of professional business practices and personal acumen. This combination of expertise and experience makes XL Plastics a very reliable machinery manufacturer. The active interest taken by the promoters themselves, who oversee all the aspects of the business as well as maintain a personal touch with its customers, makes it have an edge over other companies. Over the years the company's presence has steadily increased in the world market. Amongst the converting machinery manufacturers of developing countries, XL Plastics has built a reputation that is backed by reliability, quality and customer satisfaction.

XL Plastics has also obtained ISO 9001-2000 Certificate for excellence in Quality standards. The company has the distinction of being a pioneer in the introduction of plastic converting machinery manufacturing.

Today, XL Plastics as a 40-year old company is very well known in the market and enjoys good market presence all over India and abroad as a leading manufacturer and supplier of plastic bag making, pouch making and flexographic printing machinery.
